

Lobo Ecology is an independent ecological consultancy service with offices in the North West and North East of England.

We offer a full range of professional services from stand-alone surveys through to ecological management and realisation of project benefits for biodiversity, including:

- Ecological Scoping Surveys
- Ecological Impact Assessment
- Phase 1 Habitat Surveys
- Protected Species Surveys
- River Corridor Surveys
- River Habitat Surveys
- Habitat Creation, Enhancement and Management
- Mitigation Strategies
- Ecological BREEAM Assessments
- Invasive Plant Survey and Management
- Post Project Monitoring
- Ecological Clerk of Works
- Toolbox Talks/Training

Our team of professional ecologists and associates are all highly trained members of the Institute of Ecology and Environmental Management ensuring continual professional development and a commitment to the Institute's Code of Professional Conduct.

For an informal discussion about your project or requirements, please contact us at enquiries@LoboEcology.co.uk or call us on 01423 340 482 or 01257 453 807*

Lobo Ecology advises clients to seek ecological advice at the earliest stage of any project due to the time constraints associated with species survey and mitigation. Effective scoping, planning and costing of ecological considerations can prevent unnecessary delays and costs at a later stage.

www.loboecology.co.uk

